

From The Sun

Vonda Shepard

I was born with a sense of longing, a sense of touch
Got a sense of humour to save me when I feel too much
Am I like everybody? Lose my direction
Now I can't tell the moon from the sun

And all I have to lean on is your love tonight
And all I need is to make this time go by to be all right

I was born with desire for somebody to fill this space
And my heartbeat, it quickens every time I see your face
I believe that you love me, even when I come undone
When I can't tell the moon from the sun

And all I have to lean on is your love tonight
All I need is to make this time go by to be all right
All I have to lean is the light in your eyes
All I need is to make this time go by to be all right

All these senses make me feel too much
And I can't last a moment without a crutch
All these senses make me feel too much

And all I have to lean on is your love tonight
All I need is to make this time go by to be all right
All I have to lean is the light in your eyes
All I need is to make this time go by to be all right
