

I Know Better

Vonda Shepard

Baby, baby, baby
Remember how we laughed?
There was a time we knew how to live it up
And I couldn't totally give it up, no, no, no...

Maybe, maybe, maybe
Maybe you were blind
Or maybe you finally, finally lost your mind
Or maybe you just needed to unwind

I loved you baby, don't you know
But I almost missed the show
Waiting for your love to grow
Watching the December snow

I know better, I know better not to lean on you in any way
You're a distant memory... nothing to do with today

Baby, baby, baby
How am I gonna dream without the love
The lovin' you gave to me?
Well whoever wants to be totally free?

Maybe, maybe, maybe
There will come a time
I'm gonna find a love that is really mine
I'm livin' it up in my spare time

I see you wave goodbye
Another pretty bus ride
I hear the next town is nice
I wish I could break the ice

I know better, I know better not to lean on you in any way
You're a distant memory... nothing to do with today

Na, na, na...

I loved you baby, don't you know?
But I almost missed the show
Waiting for your love to grow
Lost in the December snow
I thought I should let you know
I know I can let you go
I'm happier than you know
Hummin' along to the radio

I know better, I know better not to lean on you in any way...
You're a distant memory... nothing to do
I know better, I know better not to lean on you in any way...
You're a distant memory... nothing to do with today
