

Bane of My Existence

Voodoo Circle

I'm tired of your excuses you can't live any more.
You give me all your reasons, when your dying on the floor.
Your telling me lies, when your so hypnotized
Your mojos rising, and your so dignified.

Now your living in shame, no more searching for another way.
You'll remember my name, in your life.
It's a long winding road, it goes on and on and won't set you free
So say farewell to your life.

Your the bane of my existence, and I ain't needing no assistance no.

Rich man poor man
You're a beggar and a thief
You're lost in Illusion, and still biting with your teeth
Who can hear your cries, when your alone in the night?
Your just killing yourself, am I wrong or am I right?

Now your living in shame, no more searching for another way
You'll remember my name, in your life.
It's a long winding road, it goes on and on and won't set you free
So say farewell to your life

Your the bane of my existence, and I ain't giving no assistance
All you showed me was resistance, your still the bane of my existence
And you ain't never coming back

Your still living in shame, no more looking for another way
You'll remember my name, in your life
Still a long winding road, it goes on and on and won't set you free
So wave a goodbye to your life

Your the bane of my existence.
