

When Destiny Calls

Voodoo Circle

Now your memory is fading and it's almost gone
Time waits for no one
In your mind you feel blinded just get down and prey
The pain feels so strong
No more searching for something to cradle the pain
You couldn't take anymore
So now open your eyes and look too the light
Could this be your paradise?

You were so foolish with one hand in your gun
You felt the fury deep inside
Just a child when it's all said and done
Now there's no were to hide, with the feelings inside

Now you've losing your passion, and there's pain in your heart
That's when destiny calls
And your burning, your bridges, and it tears you apart
That's when destiny calls

Now your body is aching it burns to the bone.
There's no solution
For a man with this lifestyle there's no where left to roam
It's just to late for a revolution

You were so foolish with one hand in your gun
You felt the fury deep inside
Just a child when it's all said and done
Now there's no were to hide, with the feelings inside

Now you've losing your passion, and there's pain in your heart
That's when destiny calls
And your burning, your bridges, and it tears you apart
That's when destiny calls
