

Delinquent Song

Voodoo Glow Skulls

That was just you
Now who's telling who
With every step you take
Do you feel yourself falling?

Grasping for that handrail
That's leading you nowhere
Parental guidance gone
Well, it's just another delinquent song

How many times...
Do you have to be told
When you're crossing someone else's line
Just because you don't see things the same as the next guy
It ain't your job to try!!

Thickheaded, yeah some might say pathetic
I think we're gonna say it's apathetic
What are you striving for
Is it simple satisfaction
If you make the wrong decision You might hurt someone else

We've all got equal opportunities
We're all standing on this common ground
And if we try to walk the same path together
Sooner or later someone will fall astray