Delinquent Song

Voodoo Glow Skulls

That was just you Now who's telling who With every step you take Do you feel yourself falling?

Grasping for that handrail That's leading you nowhere Parental guidance gone Well, it's just another delinquent song

How many times... Do you have to be told When you're crossing someone else's line Just because you don't see things the same as the next guy It ain't your job to try!!

Thickheaded, yeah some might say pathetic I think we're gonna say it's apathetic What are you striving for Is it simple satisfaction If you make the wrong decision You might hurt someone else

We've all got equal opportunities We're all standing on this common ground And if we try to walk the same path together Sooner or later someone will fall astray