

October Skies

Waking Ashland

Autumn brings a song I sing so desperately
These shattered dreams from broken wings of love
October skies and city lights were all a blur
And high tide came washin' them away

I said
?Alright, alright, alright?
And you make the calls tonight
I surrender, this is for real

Church bells ring
The North Star seems so far from me
The coastal plane's is where my shame shall lay
Autumn trees they shed their leaves to live again
The cold air brings clarity to me, yeah

I said
?Alright, alright, alright?
And you make the calls tonight
I surrender, this is for real

I said
?Alright, alright, alright?
And you make the calls tonight
I surrender to your love

And I, I've been runnin' to nowhere
(Nowhere, nowhere)
And I, I feel something's getting clear, ooh
(Come clear, come clear)

I said
?Alright, alright, alright?
?Alright, alright, alright?
I surrender, this is for real

I said
?Alright, alright, alright?
And you make the calls tonight
And I surrender to your love

I said
?Alright, alright, alright?
And you make the calls tonight
I surrender, this is for real

I said
?Alright, alright, alright?
And you make the calls tonight
And I surrender to your love
