

Physical Contract

Waking the Cadaver

high on cocaine, sins running right through my veins bad form to run your mouth again i know about everything... next time i see you - you'll be suffering the physical contract doesn't feel bad for cries
it just brings justice
to those who lie
breaking you down
you're scared stiff by the enforcer preparing swiftly to subtract your life from your body I already know it's gonna happen abruptly a ruthless scolding and then a steady one-two next you'll love what I got in store for you it's the contract you broke and now it's smashing you your mangled face hurt so bad your whole life's ending enduring this pain is not an option you're suffering
the physical contract doesn't feel bad for cries
it's time to seal the deal this contract deals only death I make them pay with their life
