

And Hope To Die

Walls of Jericho

The world been against you from day one tomorrows never promised, night has just begun so sing with me we're all fucked cause this your hell and this is your heaven unlearn what you know burn all you've been give

i sing this song hoping that you still care cause we still care
that all the broken dreamers are living this nightmare

this was written when my heart and mind defined this contradic tion there was nothing i could have done those days play on and on now i cannot see what's written on your grave i saw the white flag raised from miles away i'm sorry for not being there twice in fucking one year

you must have felt so alone terrified of a hollowed home the only thing hopeless is death desperate hope made you cry out someone end the pain
the only thing hopeless is death
