

Black Sun, Black Moon

Warbringer

One thousand miles of highway, and zero points of light
The road stretches before me, no end in sight
I tear across the valleys dividing space and time
I look upon this world and I know that it is dying...

A new sun rises

Another...

Descends into the night, at terrifying speed

Smoke rises from the desert

As the lines begin to bleed

Together in the blackness

With presences unknown

Another thought is in my mind

But it is not my own

Desolation

Isolation

Behold the ascension

Of a new star

I need to find the key

Unlock the hidden door

And lift the veil so I can see once more

Across endless deserts

Beyond... the skies

Black sun, black moon

Rising hiiigh!