

The Messenger

Wardrum

No star will show the way
No one we need to follow
No fate but what we make
No rest for the warlord

Felt like an age of sleep
A thousand years of numbness
Now we're awake for real
A new era has begun

The tide has changed
Hearts are filled with desire
Deeper we dive
Now the message of life
Is bright clear

"When we live to die fighting
for all the things we believe
wishes come true"

We will keep it up
Keep the fire burning
Even when all seems lost
We'll listen to our hearts

Despite how much we wept
The years were enough to make it
Free time can't be kept
Choose your war and spend it

The tide has changed
Hearts are filled with desire
Deeper we dive
Now the message of life
Is bright clear

"When we live to die fighting
for all the things we believe
wishes come true"
