

Home is friendly space
Home is a familiar face inside the door
All curled up on the bedroom floor.
Home is where I find the bed
some place to lead my head to morning comes singing here comes the sun.
Does it matter where I go or what I do
I can't lie you know it's true
It ain't home without you.

Some people spend there days
Lost in a heartless haze out in the cold if I may be so bold
That life is not for me 'cause every day I see a better way
And I can surely say.

Does it matter how many days come by
Or how many times I feel and touch the sky
Does it matter where I go or what I do
It ain't home without you.

It ain't home, oh you know
That I'm lost all alone
It ain't home
Home is friendly space
Home is a familiar face inside the door
All curled up on the bedroom floor.
Home is where I find the bed
some place to lead my head to morning comes
singing here comes the sun.

Does it matter how many days come by
Or how many times feel and touch the sky
Does it matter where I go or what I do
It ain't home without you.
