Darkness And Death

Darkness and Death! What are your secret enchantments? Where lies the beauty of your oppression? For I am entranced...

What innocence could have such splendour? No naked beauty nor a warm smile. But the Power to leave stars and worlds In lifeless silence...

Sublime is the hand of no pity. That wields a merciless Death. To judge not by deeds But by the approval of a god!

Victorious heart of deceit. Shaped in red beauty yet carved in black stone. Killing not to win, but to ensure a loss. Mendaciously poundering through Death...

Darkness and Death! Your blessed art lives through me. Through entranced submission. By the love of God!
