

Stranger In This Land

Waterdeep

I spent too much time today on things that don't mean much
The world around me groans under it's tyranny of touch Every wasted thought and every battle left unfought
All are testimony to my need of you

I'm a stranger in this land
Won't you take me by the hand
I can hear that distant band
But I'm still a stranger in this land

Some day's at the strangest times
I feel a sense of loss
A bite or two of stolen fruit and we all suffer from the cost
But every longing for my home
Even when I'm not alone
Stands as testimony of the coming day

All I've got to do is to believe on You
Then every struggle seems worthwhile
I can see the promise of Your smile
