Awakening

Waylander

A mystery around me Emanating from the land Only true kindred spirits May even hope to understand

A voice I hear which is calling out to me A message all around when my mind is free Speaking in whispers thrown from the wind Out from my surroundings calling out to me

Daunted by the canopy of green A blaze of blue and emerald fire A finer sight I've rarely seen And I dine on awe alone

Swirling shadows Dance upon the water still And sky and cloud vie for prominence On the surface calm A lone deed Creating ripples alike waves And all along the surface Now consequence in journey

I breathe - I feel my lungs I breathe - I feel my soul I breathe - I feel alive I am alive!

Green surrounds me The wind in my hair Fast flowing waters The hills and the vales

Ignited by passion Most purest by far My life I now fashion I live for his hour

Free to live Free to roam Free to think Free as the wind

Elation I peel So hard to comprehend As i stand alone Upon Anú's land

I have come home I have been found The way it once was Is as it shall be
