Deep in the West

Waylon Jennings

Deep in the west where the tall mountains grow I've gone home Where the heavens above turn red from the fire down below Are you listening to me when I'm talking to you Said together we're one divided we're through Divided we're through

Silver friend at night yellow friend you come with the dawn Back in my heart I've been drying my eyes see me run So you hang on to me and I'll hang on to you Said together we're one divided we're through Divided we're through

Refusing to talk I suppose that it's all for love's sake And learning to give that's important before you can take from me

Are you listening to me when I'm talking to you Said together we're one divided we're through

So you hang on to me and I'll hang on to you Said together we're one divided we're through Divided we're through
