

Philadelphia (the City Of Brotherly Love)

We Are Augustines

The city hadn't twinkled in ages
It was lost in a fog
And we could disappear just as easy
And we're already gone
To rise up from some dirty ashes,
To put away all our sobs
And now we're choking on the tears
But this is not your fault

It's the city of brotherly love,
It's the city of brotherly love
It's the city of brotherly love

Soak your scars in the ocean,
Is your car parked on the street?
You ask so many questions
And you talk a lot in your sleep

It's the same people
Just different faces
All lost in a fog
And we could disappear just as easy
And I'm already gone
To rise up from some dirty ashes,
To put away all our sobs
And now we're choking on the years
But this is not your fault

It's the city of brotherly love
It's the city of brotherly love
It's the city of brotherly love

Soak your scars in the ocean
Is your car parked on the street?
You ask so many questions
And you talk a lot in your sleep

It's the city of brotherly love
It's the city of brotherly love
It's the city of brotherly love
