

We all recognise that I'm the problem here
We all recognise that I'm the problem here

It's impossible to know or so it seems
What I'm supposed to do with you on anything
I know that playing this time is going to fall on me
'Cause we all recognise that I'm the problem here

Can't help but feel attacked, what's that supposed to mean
I know I won't relax or act like it's no big deal
This happens all the time; it's kind of our routine
But we all recognise that I'm the problem here

We all recognise that I'm the problem here
We all recognise that I'm the problem here
We all recognise that I'm the problem here
We all recognise that I'm the problem