

Drop Me Off At The Bridge

We Are The Emergency

The fresh night air
The stinging scent of chlorine
The stars, they shine so bright
They cancel out the headlights
Ignore the signs
Keep running, faster, faster
The moon, it caught your eye
As you fell from the high rise

And I don't remember
The last time time slowed down
Your breath caught in the air
Your eyes caught in my stare
The glass it hangs
Like stars across the night sky
The moon it falls
And paints them red tonight

The sky is falling in, I reach for broken glass

The shatters dull the sounds,
I don't hear your body crash
And now I'm on the edge,
And I am looking down
Sirens are growing stronger,
I can't ignore the sound

Is this flying?
Or is this feeling dying?
Cool water on my skin,
My chest is caving in
Wind burns my face
Concrete is growing faster
It's time, accept your fate,
Your screams are far too late

Please someone save me, before this becomes of me

The shatters dull the sounds,
I don't hear your body crash,
And now I'm on the edge,
And I am looking down
Sirens are growing stronger,
I can't ignore the sound
