We Are The Emergency

I see myself inside your eyes he said*
Almost inaudibly this time
And from across the room she smiled at him
She barely knew that he was alive.

Your following a path that no ones seen before
You're bathed in light that shines so bright.
Such beauty no one cared,
Nobody cared to learn,
Kept carefully locked behind,
Locked behind your eyes

I could get lost inside your eyes he said
And never find my way back out,
I see such pain inside your eyes he said
But still they're beckoning with hope,

Your following a path that no ones seen before
'You're bathed in light, a light that shines so bright'
Such beauty no one cared,
Nobody cared to learn,
Kept carefully locked behind,
Locked behind your eyes

So roll the windows up and take my hand, let your senses drink this in Lets find ourselves in the sky tonight
And trace the lines together,
We can weave our heartstrings through the stars
Until daylight reels us in.

Your following a path that no ones seen before
You're bathed in light that shines so bright.
Such beauty no one cared,
Nobody cared to learn,
Kept carefully locked behind,
Locked behind your eyes

Dark limbs reach out with painted arms to pull me in
I flash them high and take the bend full speed
And head into the wind...
