

Forgive

We Shot the Moon

Follow me up to a darkened screen
I feel it fading out
What's projected on a life when all is left on ice
And never talked about

I can't remember the moment it all went wrong
But I can't escape all the echoes of our last song

I should be someone else
But I can't forgive myself
Been playing forever a hand I was never dealt

What's it take
The bar is elevated, so impossible
I can't even hear myself
Above the glacial melt, so unattainable

I can't remember the moment it all went wrong
But I can't escape all the echoes of our last song

I should be somewhere else
But I can't forgive myself
If I could turn back time
I still couldn't change my mind
Been playing forever
The hand that was never mine
