

We Can Wait

We Shot the Moon

I need a place to hide
(I need a southern wind(
Where I can fit inside
(I need a thicker skin(
And I've got a place in mind(
Where we can start again(
Where that deal was never signed(
And that letter never penned

We can wait(
For the tide to roll back in
(For our lives to now begin(
For the world to watch us spin(
We can wait and we can win

For the tide to roll back in
(For our lives to now begin(
For the world to watch us spin(
We can wait and we can win

Back in another life
(Before the now and then
(Where that deal was never signed(
And that letter never penned

We can wait(
For the tide to roll back in
(For our lives to now begin(
For the world to watch us spin(
We can wait and we can win

For the tide to roll back in
(For our lives to now begin(
For the world to watch us spin(
We can wait and we can win

We can wait until this blows over(
We can wait until a change of weather
(We can wait until the war is over
[repeat until end]
