

The Secret to New York

We the Kings

I know it's too late I wouldn't of called your number by mistake Like a habit that's hard to break I wear my cold heart on my sleeve 'Cuz you're where I wanna be, oh yeah

I wish she'd still be there but I'm a mess and I know you don't care a long way from anywhere I walk these rainy streets drown my misery

R: Baby, it's over now maybe my ups are all downtown so far away, I'm too lost to be found and baby this time were through maybe I guess you knew nothing matters anymore and that's the secret to New York

Broadway in my brain the corner where my dreams became mistakes it was written all over your face you said I don't know who you are remember Union Square was always ours?

It all went by so fast now I got no girl, no place to crash and I can't erase the past cuz I walk these rainy streets drowning you and me

R:

I'm stuck on this train every stop, I see your face who's crying now? you're begging me to stay with flashes of light I keep you here, hidden in my eyes

R:

Nothing matters anymore, that's the Secret to New York..
