Open Your Heart

I didn't mean to let you down You have to believe it I don't know what went through my mind But now I can see

That I waited too long To tell you how much it matters Just to be right here with you But I couldn't think of anything better I should have told you so

R: Baby open your heart Won't you give me a second chance And I'll be here forever Open your heart Let me show you how much I care And I will make you understand If you open your heart To love me once again

I'll try to make it up to you I want you to know (you have to know) Baby I swear that I'll be true And never let go

If I waited too long To tell you how much it matters Just to be right here with you But I couldn't think of anything better I should have told you so

R: Baby open your heart...

We could relive this pain and sorrow But we better do it in time Start over here and save tomorrow I wanna make you mine

R: Baby open your heart... (2x)
