While She Sleeps

The north still stands for nothing,
but the streets don't feel the same.
We are the keepers of broken promise,
in a nation that will never change.

The north still stands for nothing,
but the streets don't feel the same.
We are the neighbours of broken promise,
in a nation that will never change.

The north still stands for nothing,
but the streets don't feel the same.
We are the neighbours of broken promise,
in a nation that will never change.
