

Absolutely Everything

Whiskey Rebels

When the future's uncertain,
Feel like committing some crimes
You gotta pull back the curtain
Let out those feelings inside
When there's nowhere to hide now
And life is being unkind
You still laugh on the outside
It makes you feel so safe and so weak at the same time

And on my fists I got a set of nickel plated rings
And on my back I got a brand new pair of angel's wings
You always tell me that I'm cold to all your suffering
But it's not you I hate it's absolutely everything

While we have moments in love
I simply take what I need
And when you dance from above
I'm always floored when I leave
Drinking glances like wine now
Stealing chances like time
Trying not to be a disgrace
I feel so wasted yet elated at the same time

And I might fight and I might fuss
But in the end it's you I trust
And I might bitch and I might cuss
But in the end it's just the two of us
Everyday I play with my life
But every night I pray for my life
If I'm wrong and I make it alright
At the end of the night I might pay with my life end of the night I might pay with my life

And on my fists I got a set of nickel plated rings
And on my back I got a brand new pair of angel's wings
You always tell me that I'm cold to all your suffering
But it's not you I hate it's absolutely everything
