Seigi, meiyo, chuusei Demon to others, angel to no one those seen him for real haven't lived to tell Lives by the sword, bathes in blood, seeks for trouble
It's said "face him, hear your funeral bell" Born after 18 moons, stained with dishonor
Evil from birth, cast away by his parents, Oniwaka - The Devil's Child
"Enemies shiver and flee, though he faces armies alone"
Death through this deformed figure "Ruins he leaves behind him, chaos he sees to come"
Seeking one to set him free
"One by one even those calling him a companion disappear" Going on until defeat
"Alone, he stands, daring to challenge even the gods themselves"
The blood of his own solely smothers the flames that burn within Year after year saw him trying to satisfy sword's endless hunger Wall of blades surrounds him, one for every fallen victim With each won sword he whispers
"Is there no one worth the wait?
Deaths countless showing proof to me
But ten by ten by ten I want to see."
Years he stood still (a tale of 1000 swords)
Waiting for someone to lift the weight away
The last blade sacred (a tale of 1000 swords)
to define if he's a master or a servant
Years he stood still (a tale of 1000 swords)
Waiting for someone to lift the weight away
The last blade sacred (a tale of 1000 swords)
to show if he's to walk above gods or beneath man Tatakai
Tatakai
Saigo
"Nightfall sets, stars revealed - a pale shadow on the treeline reveals nothing about it's master.
A blade on his side, a smile in his eyes as he approaches the wall of steel.
All grows silent, time stands still as it was foretold by the sakura's omen"
