

New Blue Feeling

White Denim

Dreamed of a letter from a hospital bed
I don't recall what I'd said at all
'Case a new blue feeling rushes over me
And all the doctors agree that we've hit a wall

No use in crying dear save your tears
Try to hide our feeling until we go away into
A place we'll never know until we know where

Never the right time
Never been ready before
Never the right time
Never been ready before

I've loved you all my life
You were exactly right all along
If this is goodbye
I have to ask you to try
To remember that I was once strong

No use in crying dear save your tears
Try to hide our feeling until we go away into
A place we'll never know until we know where