

Love Is Everything

White Heart

don't you let anyone say it's a jungle out there so jump in the fray
there is a far better way
love
love is everything
take an axe to the family tree cut the cords of society then the only one left to love is named me
and that's nothing
when love is everything
love, love, love
love is everything
love is everything
love, love, love
love is everything
love is everything
you can clench your teeth on the taste of hate 'cause someone will hurt you sooner than late
but your heart will collapse from the weight of nothing
when there are faces to hold, memories to heal hands to touch, summer nights to feel deeper than deep in your heart you can know what is real that love is everything
love, love, love
love is everything
love is everything
love, love, love
love is everything
love is everything
war is hell and hate's a machine the world is full of little kings and queens but it's time to forgive, hope and dream and love
'cause love is everything
love, love, love
love is everything
love is everything
love, love, love
love is everything
so bring everything that your heart can bear live your life like a holy prayer before your gaze comes to rest on an empty chair...
