

Gazing
From a lonely mountaintop(
Face to face with a sky that never stops(
Here,
Where an empty soul can turn(
To look for the reasons,
The riddles of why((

They happen,
Things we just don't understand(
But there's a peace
For what we cannot comprehend(
Oh,
We can climb higher than the pain(
To find some comfort
When the answer isn't plain((

We don't know why,
But when the world is lost in shadows(
There is a Light that will remain(
The love He gave,
That cared enough to die(
Is as endless as a Montana sky((

Flowing
On the mysteries of time(
Are secrets
That are hidden from my mind(
Oh,
For all I cannot understand(
My loving Father
Holds the answers in His hands((

We don't know why,
But when the world is lost in shadows(
There is a Light that will remain(
The love He gave,
That cared enough to die(
Is as endless as the Montana sky((

When there's no why,
There is hope beyond the sorrow(
It is the Truth that will not change(
His love that gave,
That cared enough to die(
Is as endless as the Montana sky

[Pure as the Montana sky]
Endless as a Montana sky