Love to Keep You Warm

Whitesnake

If you want love, You gotta be cool And if you deny it, Then baby you're a fool I'm telling you now, Don't you hide it away Because you need to keep you warm both night and day

I could come home Late at night And after some loving, Baby, it would be alright I've given up trying Lying my way Because you need love to keep you warm both night and day, You gotta have love to keep you warm both night and day

I said baby, if you need my love You better come home with me Maybe if you want my love, You know you got it easily But, when the sun goes down And the night is cold, You know I won't be far away Because you need love to keep you warm both night and day, You gotta have love to keep you warm both night and day

You gotta have love

If you want schooling baby I'll be around, I'm ready for fooling But, don't hang around And every morning I know I will say Because you need love to keep you warm both night and day, You gotta have love to keep you warm both night and day

I said baby, if you need my love You better come home with me Maybe if you want my love, You know you got it easily But, when the sun goes down And the night is cold, You know I won't be far away Because you need love to keep you warm both night and day, You gotta have love to keep you warm both night and day, You gotta have love to keep you warm both night and day, I said you need love to keep you warm both night and day
