

Love Will Be Waiting at Home

Whitney Houston

What good is a kiss, especially if
It's not with the one you truly love
Baby, don't kiss your life away
Don't, don't, don't, don't, don't, don't, don't
What good is a house if it's not a home
We don't wanna spend our lives alone
Baby, let's not make that mistake
Don't, don't, don't, don't

Some people search, but they search too far
When love is so close to their hearts
Well, I won't be searching
'Cause love is right here
And it's clear, it's right in your arms
Baby

Don't, don't you go breaking my heart
Don't run away from these arms
There's something I need you to know
Love will be waiting at home

Don't you go breaking my heart
Don't be afraid of these arms
There's something I need you to know
Love will be waiting at home

What good is a heart if it's all alone
Without someone special there to hold
The heart was not meant to waste away
No, no, no, no, no, no, no
What good is a love, if it's not sincere
Ya need someone special who's always there
Not someone who'll just drift away
No, no, no, no

Some people search through their whole life long
Trying to find someone true
Well, don't you go searching
'Cause love is right here, don't you fear
It's waiting for you

Don't, don't you go breaking my heart
Don't run away from these arms
There's something I need you to know
Love will be waiting at home

Boy, I will be there
Be waiting for you
If you need, only call
I'm there for you baby
I'll give you my heart
Forever be true

I'll be there for you
And only for you

Don't, don't you go breaking my heart

Don't run away from these arms
There's something I need you to know
Love will be waiting at home

Boy, I will be there
Be waiting for you
If you need, only call
I'm there for you baby
I'll give you my heart
Forever be true

Love is waiting for you
