

If Love Equals Nothing

Will Young

I'm sitting in the dark now, no energy to turn the light on Don't wanna see nothing since you're gone
'Cause where are all the soldiers, I'm tired of fighting on my own
I'm fed up with users, where did I go wrong?

Tell me why does my heart let me down?
Always thinking we'll be different next time around

If love equals nothing but sadness and pain
Why do I need it time and time again
When it builds me up high and then drops me to the floor
Beating me, cheating me still I come back for more

I put a lot of love in, it always seems to go to waste
Am I looking for the right thing in the wrong place? Yeah
And tell me why does my heart rule my head
Think it loves to be a fool, it likes to be misled
I need to understand that

If love equals nothing but sadness and pain
Why do I need it time and time again?
When it builds me up high and drops me to the floor
Beating me, cheating me still I come back for more

People come, people come, people come and go
And every time it's just the same, I end up here alone
Picking up the pieces of a heart that's always broke and oh

If love equals nothing but sadness and pain
Why do I need it time and time again?
When it builds me up high and then drops me to the floor
Bleeding me, cheating me still

If love equals nothing but sadness and pain
Why do I need it time and time again?
When it builds me up high and then drops me to the floor
Bleeding me, cheating me, still I come back for more