

Won't Look Down

Will Young

The radio plays a love song
And every word seems to speak the truth
I'm trying not to feel the pain
Pretendin' i'm not listenin'

I know I should keep busy
But, fillin' time - it ain't, ain't that easy for me
(I'm) trying to mend a broken heart
Tryin' hard to figure out
If you give your love, give your love to someone (give your love)
Can you get it back or is it just long gone now?

This is what I need now is the strength to walk away
And rememeber who i am again
This has gotta get better
Surely time is all i need to mend
When i'm constantly reminded of the love that we had found
Gotta keep my head up high
I wont look down

I know it's part of the process
The fact that I, ooh I can't sleep at night
With nothing but the candle light
Nobody to hold me tight (and I, I ask myself, who was in the form of knowing suddenly that hurt each other first ain't wrong) yeah ya do me wrong

That's why I've got to hold on
And rememeber who i am again
This has gotta get better
Surely time is all i need to mend
When i'm constantly reminded of the love that we had found
Gotta keep my head up high
I wont look down

No, I won't look down
At the shadows, all are lonely
And I will walk the right side of the street
And I will hold my head up high
I know my heart will show me how

Walk away
And rememeber who i am again
This has gotta get better
Surely time is all i need to mend
Constantly reminded of the love that we had found
Gotta keep my head up high
I wont look down

Walk away (won't look down again)
And rememeber who i am again
This has gotta get better
Surely time is all i need to mend
When I'm constantly reminded of the love that we had found
Gotta keep my head up high
I wont look down
