

Walls

William Beckett

So, I hear you're feeling pretty bad about
Since graduation how your life's worked out
Disappointment spread across your face.

And all the friends you had got outta town
Traveled the world and have their lives mapped out
While you're mopping, hanging around your place.

Don't forget,
To remember that the walls you hide behind
Are the same ones that surround each and every
Soul alive, soul alive.

There's a light that shines just beyond the darkness
The dead of night whisper in the wind
Stand up and fight.
Break your walls down. Walls.

Sometimes motivation isn't hard to find
Out in the open, in the spotlight
And it disappears as quick as it came.

Oh, girl, now 22 years is not that long
Gotta stop stressing when all the things are planned wrong
And start believing in yourself - Charming, Charming, Charming.

There's a light that shines just beyond the darkness
The dead of night whisper in the wind
Stand up and fight.
Break your walls down. Walls down. Walls.

Start believing in yourself stronger.
Start believing in yourself, Charming
Start believing in yourself, Charming
Start believing in yourself.

There's a light that shines just beyond the darkness
The dead of night whisper in the wind
Stand up and fight.
Break your walls down. Walls down. Walls down.
Break your walls down.
