

London

Willie Nelson

The streets are dark and quiet at London, after midnight.
Listen...
The silence is the master of darkness, and London can sleep tonight, protected by the master.
London... London...
You scream the largest portion of the day
London... London...
Rest your lungs, tomorrow's on its way.