Playin' Dominoes and Shootin' Dice

Willie Nelson

Once I knowed a guitar picker, lived his life on wine and liquor $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) +\left(1\right) +\left$

Runnin' around in one of them new machines He was about the proudest feelin', wheelin', dealin' Sneakin', stealin', aggravatin' man I've ever seen

Nothin' but a midnight rambler, biggest drunkard and a gambler

He'd do anything that wasn't nice

Huntin', golfin', fishin', swimmin', runnin' around with other women

Playin' dominoes and shootin' dice

Then one night as he was dinin', while the moon was brightly shinin'

With his secret love he was so gay

He would laugh and call her 'Honey' while she proudly spent his money

As they hugged and smoothed the time away

Laughin', jokin', dinin', dancin'

Plannin' parties and romancin', havin' fun regardless of the price

Eatin' caviar and chicken, strummin' his guitar and pickin'

Playin' dominoes and shootin' dice

Then his wife walked in and found him with that pretty $\operatorname{\mbox{\it qirl}}$ around $\operatorname{\mbox{\it him}}$

Started makin' headway for the gate

When he seen those girls dividin', he commenced to slip and slidin'

But he seemed to know it was too late

Crowds began to gettin' thinner, they jumped up and left their dinner

No one seemed to have an appetite

Not a person dare defend her, everyone jumped out the window

No one hung around to see the fight

Then she grabbed him by the collar, he commenced to squeal and holler $% \left(1\right) =\left(1\right) +\left(1$

As she plastered him betwixt the eyes

And then his old guitar she swung it, o'er his head she proudly hung it

Bruises, knots and bumps began to rise

He leapt up and tried to squeeze her, but she warped 'cross the beezer

Pulled a pistol and shot him once or twice

When the wicked fight was over, he was laid beneath the

No more dominoes and shootin' dice