

The Great Divide

Willie Nelson

Now here we are.
Standing where the highways cross.
And here we are saying goodbye.
Just another love lost in the great divide.

Here we are acting like two crazy kids.
We've come too far to ever see it end like this.
Just another love lost in the great divide.

Remember how we used to dance together.
Remember how I used to hold you tight.
You asked me if I'd leave and I said never.
And that's still right.

Summer sun, no prettier than summer rain.
Summer gone, summer coming back again.
Other loves lost in the great divide.

Remember how we used to dance together.
Remember how I used to hold you tight.
You asked me if I'd leave and I said never.
And that's still right.

Summer sun, no prettier than summer rain.
Summer gone, summer coming back again.
Other loves lost in the great divide.
