

The Day After

Winds of Plague

Today I wake to a silent world.
To an empty sky Ill we've learned is how to die the next world war will be fought with stones and you will be striped of all f ortunes.
The superior pillaged and left fir dead.
Bound by honor we'll fight for confidence.
for once all men will be equal and only the strong will survive
.
In my honor, we'll fight for confidence.
When your wealth bears no meaning who will you turn to.
welcome back to the dark era when man is just a man threes no d ivine among us.
Only flesh and blood.
All your bridges are burnt every city left in ruins the end is just a dawn.
Life is now a privilege.
Integrity is the only gold.
Welcome back to the dark era this is the end this is the dawn.