

Inception Perspective

Winds

A burst of flames from a radiant glow
Indeed they are the essence of beauty
The source of all creation

In wonder and amazement i stare at them
The shining light from a veil of bright stars

Silently in the night
They whisper to me the words of life
As i become aware of my existence