Feeding The Angel

Wine From Tears

The day began without your smile You woke up lonely, in denial My name is always on your lips And you're crying, you're crying

I can't forget last kiss of world You kissed my arm, but it was cold When I was bleeding on the wind I was dying, I'm dying

I wish to hold my hand in yours Our love will cross the universe I'm caught by prison of the sky And you're lonely 'cause I'm far

So let's pretend that I'm alive Come down to you to bring my love We'll be as close as used to be And I'm waiting, I'm waiting...

Feeding the angel high At the top of ancient mountain I'd spread my wings if I could fly But my solitude I'm counting

You try to find me through nightfall I hear your voice, I hear the call Nobody is found in darkness And you're closing your eyes

The frozen river is my blood My heaven shows me only road Come high to feed me one more time And to embrace me...
