She's looking in the eye
Of a mind made up
That the pain will last forever

And he's headed for a heart
All closed up, will you ever open up?
She said, "Never"

What is the secret
To keeping your head and your promises?

Oh, "I'll mend your broken heart", she said Under one condition If I lift you up, you'll never let me down Darling under one condition

She stares at the sky, wondering why the night Isn't telling her, believe in him
If he could only read to her the pages of his heart
She could see they feel the same

Learning the secret
To keeping their heads and their promises

Oh, "I'll mend your broken heart", he said Under one condition

If I let you in, you'll never push me out Darling under one condition

And this is my one, this is my one condition

He's getting closer and she's getting closer Just one more question, one more answer It was all they ever wanted

Oh, "I'll mend your broken heart", she said Under one condition If I lift you up, you'll never let me down Darling under one condition

Hear me say, this is my one condition
That if I let you in, you'll never push me out
Darling under one, darling under one condition
I'll mend your broken heart, but darling under one condition
If I lift you up, you'll never, don't let me down