At the Gates

Wisdom

"All hope abandon, ye who enter here!" [DANTE ALIGHIERI]

Since I was born I have never before Seen Daemon's eyes One day I thought I can seek the forest Search deep inside

Time has gone by as I wandered too far Darkness and cold Led me to run but I realized there's Nowhere to go

If only I could find a way The way to peace of mind If only I was born again to turn back time

I wanna lie on a cloud in the sky Lie with a blindfold over my eyes Fadin' away till the old Man of Fate Opens the Heaven's Gate

How I got home, I can only recall Those eyes and smell Some people say I have sold my soul and Will go to Hell

I believe in Heaven, my soul will never die I believe in afterlife

Strange little deal with the Evil of all I hoped that my spirit will never fall I've nothing more but this story to tell Here at the gates of Hell
