Live Forevermore

There is some kind of mystery In this land we live A thousand years in our history Taught us to believe

We never know What the future has in store 'Till the end of time We are all

Ready to die, never give up the fight Leading our nation into the light Ready to fall in this battle we call Live forevermore

In spite of many dangers and Destructions of war In this land, wherever we stand Everything is gold

We never know What is in the crystal ball While we are alive We are all Wisdom
