

You Rescue Me

Wishbone Ash

Among the stars on this side of heaven
I lay broken and destroyed.
When people on the earth have cut you down
The sky's the only place to hide.
And as I floated in the moonlit night
You arrived to take me home.
I kissed your hand and I came back to life
And all the wrong became all right.
In all of my dreams
You rescue me
It always seems you rescue me.
I was wandering down endless roads
A fallen angel in the cold.
You appeared before me like a vision
To whisper love I used to know.
So easily you gave to me secret promises
Like only magic words can flow.
In all of my dreams
You rescue me
It always seems you rescue me.
