Oh, it's hardly a secret You ain't gon stop tryna get where you going until you reach it Always had them bars back in the day When the same ones running up on you wasn't speaking Look at all your achievements You work hard so it'd be kinda hard not to believe that You party every weekend (weekend) Fuck em all who act like they ain't see it then All them nights on the plane Losses a nigga took, had to charge it to the game Always wanted stardom and the fame Learn to out smart em And now it ain't no stopping the champagne from poppin' The draws from droppin' Us seeing muscle cars and coppin' em Started off just a little less popular Now you got a new place You drive a new car You smile for the cameras, live life like a superstar Don't care what they say You reach for the stars Got everything you always dreamed or thought about And everyone knows who you are Never gets boring And haters in your face, you just ignore em Don't know what they talking shit for See niggas get theirs, you just tryna get yours Therefore, you left all the people you care for Hopped on a plane and got airborne Seen all the bullshit and fell for it But it's all good now Cause the same ones that talk shit telling everyone you made it Then you start seein' hoes you dated And thoughts start getting jaded Now your life's sort of different ain't it Feel your scars knowin what your pain is But what's it all worth if it's painless? Say you wanna be famous Now you got a new place You drive a new car You smile for the cameras live life like a superstar Don't care what they say You reach for the stars Got everything you always dreamed or thought about And everyone knows who you Are, who you are are, are who you are

Always knew I was this good

But never knew I'd be this good Them niggas just starting, I've been doing it Hear em talk but they ain't living my life In the dark tryna get in my light But chances I don't get em, dodge twice Spendin' grands for hoes, this is the high life And for the camera's posing this the high life Bottles raising for my niggas not here I pour out a couple sips Blew em on the beach, I smoke for you on my trips Them days I was younger I knew this life was the shit But never like this It's so amazing, we ain't gotta duck shots We just pour and chase em Ain't worry bout it, cause they gon hate Know where I'm going, look where I came from

Now you got a new place
You drive a new car
You smile for the cameras live life like a superstar
Don't care what they say
You reach for the stars
Got everything you always dreamed or thought about
And everyone knows who you
