

Do You Remember Me?

Wizo

Hello, do you remember me? I'm a song that you maybe already heard from anybody else They took some other melody But it's still what it used to be Those same old boring three chords and a stupid melody
There comes a middle part this part will break my heart
'cause I know that it used to be played so much better than the play it right now player so much better than they play it right now

Hello, do you remember me? I'm a song that used to be already played by anybody else They changed some of the melody but it's still what it's always been

The same old boring three chords and a stupid melody
There comes the middle part this part's gonna break my heart
'cause I know that it used to be played so much better thaan they play it right now played so much better than they play it right now

Hello, do you remember me? I'm a song you definately heard already a hundred times before

They stole some other melody but it's still what it used to be
Those same old boring three chords and a stupid melody
There comes a middle part (again) this time it makes me fart
'cause I know that another band would play it so much better than they play it right now

Hello, do you remember me? I'm a song you definately heard
already a hundred times before

They stole some other melody but it's still what it used to be
Those same old boring three chords and a stupid melody
d a stupid melody d a stupid melody