

The Sparrows and the Nightingales.

Wolfsheim

How long have you been free in this world of hate and greed is it black or is it white let's find another compromise and our future's standing still we're dancing in the spotlight where is the leader who leads me i'm still waiting
leaving home

...and God is on your side dividing sparrows from the nightingales
watching all the time
dividing water from the burning fire inside...

Leave a light on in the night for me that I can find you remember when we both were young and
reckless and so curious
now you're hiding from your child
a new day's dawning
remember that you felt alive sometimes

dividing cruelty from tenderness
dividing fiction from reality...

Move in circles walk the lines
no human being inside
calm the winds and calm the seas
try another kind of peace who fights this holy civil war
a million men in uniform wo ist der Führer der mich führt
ich warte immer noch

dividing presence from the history
dividing deaf men from the listening ones...

dividing fiction from reality...

leaving home...

dividing deaf men from the listening ones...

dividing soldiers from the fishermen
dividing warships from the ferryboats...
