

Thought Back

Wondermints

And I won't let you cry again.
No, I won't let you cry to make me want you.
You know you know what all I've been through,
So now what else do you want me to do?
And I won't let you cry again.
I won't let you cry.
Thought twice on another's advice that nothing
Could come from you.
Thought twice that it would have been nice to see you.
Thought back but I couldn't keep track of everything you do.
Thought back as a matter of fact, but I feel you stalking.
Another day goes by, another crime.
You'd have your way again.
And you've nothing to say - that's the way it will be.
You think you're as far as you can see,
But I think that you'll be there without me.
You'd have your way again.
You'd have your way.
Thought twice on another's advice that nothing
Could come from you.
Thought twice that it might've been nice to see you.
Thought back but I couldn't keep track of everything you do.
Thought back as a matter of fact, but I feel you...
Another day goes by, another crime.
And there's no alibi to waste my time.
Another day goes by, and I could feel you near
And I'll never let you do me like you did before.