

Falling Apart

Woods of Ypres

...we are not fully whole...
...we have burning out - again and again...
...returning to foundation - year after year...
...something from neglect, an interior exit...

We are not fully whole
We have burning out - again and again
Returning to foundation - year after year
Something from neglect, an interior exit

Mind displayed for demolition
Once and for all

One taken closer with satisfaction
There could be no turning back
Deny yourself your means demotions
You have a job to do, so wipe away your tears
Drive in forward, now!

I see you falling apart
But I know you're not worth tearing down
I see you falling apart
But I know you're not worth tearing down
I see you falling apart
But I know you're not worth tearing down
I see you falling apart
But I know you're not worth tearing down

...the flowers running out beneath us...
...Not can't improve once more again...
...broken glass by all around us...
...the darkest slam right off the head kick's...

The flowers running out beneath us
Not can improve once more again
Broken glass by all around us
The darkest slam right off the head kick's
A vast of void of no returning
Nothing can be salvage now
Done with a past of hesitations
You have a job to do, so gather all your strength
And drive in forward, now!

I see you falling apart
But I know you're not worth tearing down
I see you falling apart
But I know you're not worth tearing down
I see you falling apart
But I know you're not worth tearing down
I see you falling apart
But I know you're not worth tearing down

I'm afraid, please stop this
I want to tear you down
But if you did forgot this
Want to tear it or lie down
Right now

...we are not fully whole...
...the flowers running out beneath us...
...we have burning out - again and again...
...returning to foundation - year after year...
...not can't improve once more again...
...broken glass by all around us...
...something from neglect, an interior exit...
...the darkest slam right off the head kick's...
